PRINCE AUGUST

Prince August is pleased to present its new Seven Years War series of moulds. Working in close collaboration with wargamers and experts on the period, we have produced a range of moulds whose flexibility is such that many troop types and variants can now be produced. This new system features much more detailed and accurate figures than ever before with heads, bodies and other accessories produced separately. We have already released Prussian, Austrian, Austrian-Hungarian, French and Russian infantry moulds as well as Artillery and Cuirassier moulds. Now we are releasing our Dragoon moulds for this series. This consists of four moulds. Series was designed by Prince August and Steve Metherringham.

Dragoons were originally a form of mobile infantry when they originated in the 17th century but by the time of the Seven Years War had evolved into light cavalry. They were used extensively in this period by all major European powers, except Russia which, because of its ready supply of Cossacks, retained them as mounted infantry. Dragoons of most European armies were similar in general appearance. Each Austrian Dragoon regiment comprised six squadrons each of 190 officers and men. Each squadron was divided into two companies. Two companies in each regiment were elite troops and were designated Horse grenadiers.

Austrian Dragoon Regt No.1 (Archduke Joseph):

Mould 3123 contains everything you need to make a Dragoon trooper.

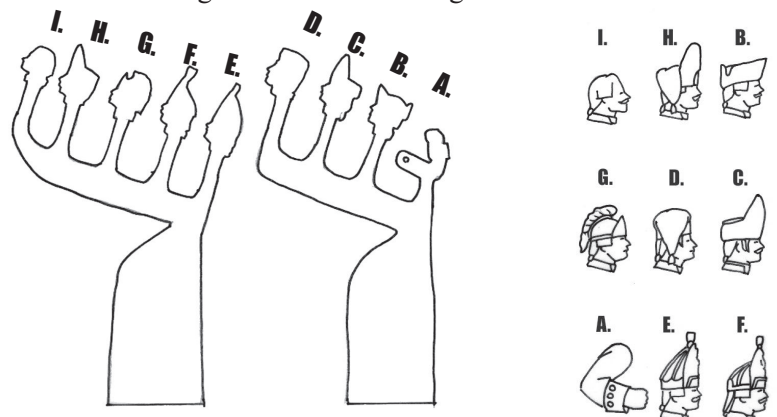

Mould 3124 contains everything you need to make a Dragoon officer.

Mould 3125 contains everything you need to make a Dragoon drummer.

To make a Dragoon standard bearer cast the head and main body from mould 3124 (parts A and B) and add to this the arm in accessory mould 3126 (part A).

Accessory mould 3126 enables you to make Dragoons of most of the European powers during the Seven Years War by adding a different head and painting a different colour scheme. Painting instructions for Dragoons of all the armies in this conflict can be found at www.kronoskaf.com
